January 26, 1921.

Mr. Henry O'Malley,
Seattle, Washington.

Dear Mr. O'Malley:

Referring to your letter of the 21st instant, inclosing communication from the Credit Service Corporation, 1208 L. C. Smith Bldg., which shows that the Alaska Packing & Navigation Co. is in the hands of a receiver and did not operate its plant during the calendar year 1920, I beg to advise that the cannery which we have in mind may perhaps have been operated under the name of the Pavlof Harbor Packing Co. Mr. Ball says that Warden O'Connor reported a cannery there last season and it was his understanding that it was the plant formerly operated under the name of the Alaska Packing & Navigation Co. We shall appreciate it if you will run down the matter and get a statistical report for use

Several additional reports came in this morning which I am sure have resulted from the reminders given by you. We are still short quite a number, and if they do not come in rather soon, I shall let you know so that you can get after them again, as referred to in your favor of the 21st instant.

Yours sincerely,

Harold J. Bower
